Inside Your Congress

British Loan
—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Do we want government ownership in the United States—and by a foreign government? The British government, under the socialistic Attlee administration, is now a heavy owner in American business, including General Motors, A. T. & T., Radio Corporation of America, Woolworth, Celanese, Singer, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Great Northern Railway, Eastman Kodak, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Commonwealth and Southern, etc.

The British holding in General Motors is 434,000 shares. You will recall that Walter Reuther of the United Automobile Workers, C. I. O., appealed to Prime Minister Attlee to use this huge stock interest in General Motors to pressure G. M. into a settlement of the strike. There is no evidence that Mr. Attlee responded. But if it chose, the British government could designate Prof. Loski as its proxy, to attend stockholders meetings and help determine the conduct of American business.

The British interest is now a factor in 83 American companies whose stocks are listed on the New York Stock Exchange; in 66 unlisted companies, and in 40 British owned United States insurance companies; total, 189.

It is the law of the United States that aliens cannot acquire title to our public lands unless the alien has declared his intent to become an American citizen. That is also the law in many, if not all, of the 48 States.

It is also the law that an American radio license shall not be granted to aliens or to a "foreign government" or to any corporation in which one-fifth or more of the stock is owned by aliens. The reason is obvious: to prevent the subtle molding of American public opinion by foreign interests.

American corporations doing a foreign banking business shall not engage in commerce or trade, or own stock in other companies except as permitted by the Federal Reserve Board. Again, the reason is obvious. It is to protect American interests.

The law does not forbid citizens of foreign countries to own American stocks and bonds. Nor does any such law seem necessary. In the scattered hands of individuals, who are both Labor and Conservative, it is not likely that such foreign owned stock interests could be mobilized effectively to dominate an American business. In the hands of individuals, Mr. Reuther, as an example, would have difficulty in getting them to exert pressure on the side of American labor unions. Concentrated, however, in the hands of some foreign government, pressure could be exerted in many ways and for many hidden purposes, even in the diplomatic field.

There was nothing wrong about the acquisition of this stock by the British government. In order to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation five

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Howard S. Fisher, 62, a member of the firm, Fisher Brothers, merchants at Rushland since 1907, died suddenly at his home Friday of a heart attack.

Mr. Fisher, who was postmaster at Rushland, was a native of Wil-low Grove, a son of the late David and Mary Brannin Fisher.

The deceased was quite active in the affairs of the Red Cross and the Penn's Park Methodist Church, of which he was the treasurer. He also was a member of the Jamison Lodge of the I. O. O. F.

In addition to his widow, Ida P. Ritter Fisher, the deceased is survived by a son, H. Arthur Fisher, Madison, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kooker, Sellersville, on Thursday celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary. They were married February 21, 1891, in Sellersville, by the late Dr. J. H. Waidelich.

Doylestown police on Saturday arrested a Huntington Reformatory parolee who is charged with stealing $350 from his father, with which he purchased an automobile, and then fled from his father's home in Philadelphia.

The accused is Charles Swain, 21, Philadelphia, who is being held at the Bucks County Prison pending the arrival of Philadelphia police who will take him back to the Philadelphia jurisdiction for further action.

Swain was picked up at Doylestown at the home of a friend where he had gone for a brief visit. Swain's father called Doylestown police and asked their assistance since the father had expected his son to go to Doylestown.

Dinner Party Held Here Is Dual Celebration

A dinner party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stein-brun, on Sunday. The party was in honor of John Steinbrun, Jr., he being discharged from the Marine Corps after three years of overseas duty. The affair also marked the elder Steinbrun's wedding anniversary.

FARM SCHOOL IS NOW PLANNING EXPANSION

Prepares To Make Room For At Least 200 Additional Students

INCLUDING THE "G.I.'S"

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 27—While colleges throughout the nation are unable to cope with the overflow demands of veterans who are seeking admission under the G. I. Bill of Rights, the National Farm School announced plans yesterday to make room for at least 200 additional high school graduates and also for ex-servicemen.

What is more, according to Leon Merz, chairman of the school's board of trustees, every student will be granted outright a $600 "scholarship bonus" yearly to be credited toward his tuition and maintenance.

The major feature of the new program, however, calls for the expansion of the school into a 3-year junior college which will offer courses in the liberal arts as well as in practical and scientific agriculture. An enlarged faculty, increased dormitory and laboratory facilities are also embodied in the plans adopted by the trustees, Mr. Merz disclosed.

Pointing out that applications from veterans and other high school graduates will be considered for entrance in the school term beginning June of this year, Mr. Merz said that curriculum schedules will be worked out separately with each veteran and that the student's scholastic background, agricultural experience and future plans "will be taken into full account." He added that under the new program students will devote half time to classroom studies and the other half to "supervised practical work in the fields and laboratories."

He said that when the new junior college program gets under way in June, more than 600 acres of ground already have been cultivated on the farms that spread across the campus. Veterans and other students, he added, will also find green-houses with an area of 16,000 square feet, peach and apple orchards covering 30 acres, a dairy herd of 125 cows and a poultry plant of 6,000 to 8,000 birds.

The junior college curriculum will include, in addition to the liberal arts courses, such subjects as general agriculture, farm machinery, dairying, field crops, farm accounting, poultry husbandry, animal physiology, pomology and vegetable gardening, ornamental horticulture, agronomy and agricultural engineering.

GOVERNOR MARTIN SUGGESTS A "CRUSADE TO PRESERVE THE FREEDOMS OF THE COMMON MAN"

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27—(INS)—Pennsylvania embarked today on what Gov. Edward Martin hoped would be a "crusade to preserve the freedoms of the common man."

The Chief Executive urged the crusade in an address before the 37th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association.

He proposed the following four-point program to "preserve and advance America."

(1) "We should know our nation and its principles and accomplishments—our free enterprise system, the freedom of the worker and our form of government.

(2) "We need a spiritual revival... a spirit to drive out the spreading curse of selfishness.

(3) "We must conserve our natural resources.

(4) "Religion, education, health and human welfare are the responsibility of every living American... we dare not neglect them."

WHAT HAPPENED TO PEACE?

One would need to be blind indeed not to perceive that the world is girding for World War Three.

Russia is on the move. Her army, already larger than those of any two other nations, is to be made still bigger. Stalin has called for a new drive for more powerful armament. His spies have admittedly been trying to steal the one weapon Russia lacks—the atomic bomb.

England and America are boasting of peace but preparing for war. In both nations demobilization has suffered a slowdown. The Truman Administration has sought a military reorganization which would put manpower and industrial resources under the thumbs of the military command. Both nations nervously and jealously watch their sole real hope of quickly defeating Russia—the secret of how to make and use atomic bombs.

Slap-happy supporters of the UNO continue to boast that they have scored a moral victory over war. As is so often the case, moral victory is another way of saying defeat. The recent sessions of the UNO broke up on a sour note, with nothing whatsoever having been discovered as a means of dealing with Russian aggression, beyond the defeatist method of appeasement.

Russia continues to gain by leaps and bounds. Her pre-war territory has grown by nearly 50 per cent, including some of the richest industrial potentials on earth; the population which she controls has increased by many millions.

With her hold well consolidated on the largest land-mass on the globe, she is astride half the circumference of the earth and is the dominant factor in the future of two-thirds of the world's population.

HOMES NOT ALWAYS AIDED BY BIG PAY

Welfare Officer Says Extra Money is Often Spent By Parents for Liquor

NEGLECT OF CHILDREN

MECHANICSVILLE, Feb. 27—Miss Gertrude L. Bright, Doylestown, and Bucks County welfare officer, was the speaker before members of Buckingham Women's Club at the home of Mrs. Walter B. Wiley, a few days ago.

Miss Bright, introduced by Mrs. Henry L. Eastwood, stated that the fact that many parents are not in many cases improve the home. She clarified this by saying that parents who had earned high wages in many instances spent the money for liquor and amusements outside the home with the result the children were neglected.

The guest speaker, whose subject was juvenile delinquency, gave a brief resume of her work in the county the past 15 years. Two hundred and forty-five juveniles were before the court in the county during the past year.

Complaints of juvenile delinquency, said Miss Bright, are received from neighbors, the clergy and even the parents in some cases. The complaints are followed by investigations. All children must be studied to know how to deal with them because different dispositions require different methods of treatment.

Neglect in the home the past few years, said Miss Bright, has been responsible in many cases for the increase of juvenile delinquency. Children, it was explained, are not taken into court if it is at all possible to avoid it. Parents are urged to correct their children and to keep them in the home.

Delinquents, the members were told, are given time to try to make amends, and if this is not done, they must be cared for by the county by being placed in private homes or in institutions.

Juveniles who come from the cities and get into trouble, Miss Bright said, add to the delinquency list in the county. Children placed on probation are given a chance to get an education and this, it was said, is desirable if possible.

MRS. MARIAN REINKE DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Teacher of Special Classes Here Had Planned For Further Studies

A HEART AILMENT

Although feeling ill for several days, Mrs. Marian Reinke, a teacher of special classes at Bath street school building, died suddenly last evening of a heart ailment.

Death occurred at her home, the Goslin apartments, 529 Radcliffe street.

Although feeling ill for several days, and under the care of a physician, Mrs. Reinke had taught school yesterday morning. More greatly affected in the afternoon, she remained at home, and death occurred during the evening.

Mrs. Reinke, who was born in Philadelphia, had resided there for some time. While her husband, the late Dr. Charles K. Reinke, was practicing in North Dakota, the family resided in that State for several years. Mrs. Reinke had come to Bristol four years ago to assume her teaching post in the Bristol public schools.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Reinke had tendered her resignation as a member of Bristol faculty, the resignation to be effective tomorrow. She planned to further her studies at a college in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Reinke is survived by a son, who has been serving with the U. S. Army in the European Theatre of Operations.

MELVIN CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF AN ATTEMPT AT FRAUD

Intent To Injure Insurance Company by Setting Fire To A Vehicle

31 WITNESSES CALLED

Jury Deliberates 50 Minutes After A Five-Day Trial

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 27—Redman D. Melvin, 56, of 101 Sharon avenue, Sharon Hill, Pa., a former resident of Stroudsburg, was convicted here yesterday in the Bucks county criminal court before a jury of six women and six men on a charge of intent to injure and defraud an insurance company by setting fire to and burning a motor vehicle.

Melvin, a machine shop foreman, was released under $1,000 bail pending disposition of a motion for a new trial that was filed by his attorney, Webster S. Achey, of Doylestown.

A similar charge against a son, Frank R. Melvin, of Stroudsburg, was not pressed.

Thirty-one witnesses were called during a 5-day trial and the jury deliberated but 50 minutes.

The Commonwealth charged that Melvin's automobile was burned on the Lackawanna Trail near Revere, Bucks county, on September 14th, 1945. He was charged with eight counts in the bill of indictment.

The wife of the defendant, Mrs. Helen McCarthy Melvin, who married him September 27, 1945, testified she and Miss Lorraine Smith were passengers in the car when it figured in an automobile crash on the crest of Ottaville hill the night before it was burned.

Mrs. Melvin, who was a Bell Telephone employee for three years prior to her marriage, denied that she heard her husband say to the tow-car garageman "I wouldn't have cared if it had burned up if I hadn't had my tools in it."

"I was really so excited that I can't remember what was said and what wasn't said," Mrs. Melvin testified.

Miss Smith, who was en route with the defendant and Mrs. Melvin to their cottage in the mountains, also denied that Mr. Melvin ever said anything about wishing the car would burn up.

A motion made by the defense attorney for the jury to disregard counts three, four, five, six, seven and eight, was denied by Judge Boyer.

Members of the jury: Anita R. Scheetz, forewoman, Riegelsville; Isaac D. Shaffer, Quakertown, R. D. 1; Gertrude Hodges, Andalusia; Thomas H. Magill, New Hope, R. D. 1; Allen Harr, Sellersville; Katie V. Shive, Weisell; Samuel S. Schmell, Dublin; William R. Vandegriff, Crofton; Mary C. Hinkle, Perkasie, R. D. 3; John C. Beidler, Quakertown; Helen Hotell, Richlandtown; and Ruth S. Hibbs, Yardley.

Police and Strikers Clash in Philadelphia

Philadelphia—Violence broke out today in small clashes among some 2000 police and strikers at the strikebound General Electric Company plant in southwest Philadelphia.

The battle started when nearly a thousand policemen attempted to enforce a court injunction prohibiting mass picketing at the plant by members of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

At least one person was reported injured.

The violence broke out when about 1500 strikers appeared at the plant this morning in defiance of the injunction. While all of them did not actually picket, the main body of the men paraded before the struck plant. The clash got underway when police prohibited them from marching past the plant a second time.

Rail Strike Vote Results To Be Announced March 1st

Cleveland—Presidents of two of the nation's five railroad operating brotherhoods indicated today that results of a nationwide strike vote among 806,000 rail workers will be announced in Cleveland Friday.

A week ago, Whitney reported that 99 per cent of the ballots received from employees of the nation's main system favored strike action to support their demand for a 25 per cent general wage increase.

"PUBLIC BE DAMNED"

No one in the current industrial mess has said "the public be damned" in so many words, as a railroad tycoon once exclaimed when needed by a pestiferous interviewer. But actions speak louder than words. In the present situation there is a singularly callous disregard of the public interest.

One of the basic human rights is the right to work and earn a living. By tying up strategic industries and refusing to yield even if the difference in the dispute is only a penny an hour, thousands connected with the dispute are made idle daily.

In big cities the transportation of the inhabitants has been blocked, their fuel supplies shut off, medical aid and hospitalization impeded, the cutting off of electrical power threatened or actually accomplished, and a general interference with public utilities practiced which results in inconvenience and menace to the public health. Goods for which the public has long waited are tied up in quarrels which could have been settled long ago and in which there is little if any merit.

The public is long-suffering. But there is still more of it than there is of any high-pressure minority. And the public, when it is the victim of a "be damned" policy, usually wakes up. This is still a republic, many persons hope, and in a practicing republic the majority doesn't eternally get the dirty end of the deal.

TIME TO DO IT IS NOW

It seems almost absurd that the Secretary of the Navy should find it necessary to urge Congress to keep the Navy strong. But that's what Secretary Forrestal is doing. He must consider it necessary. But the news from Canada of the atomic bomb "leak" may open many congressional eyes.

Secretary Forrestal wants Congress to set the Navy's strength at 500,000 enlisted men and 58,000 officers. In support of this legislation he found it advisable to explain to the Senate Naval Affairs Committee that the time has not yet come when war can be waged without the transportation of men and materials overseas.

"Security against attack," he said, "can only be achieved by denying to our potential enemies the base areas from which mass air attacks can be launched against us."

"This implies the maintenance of an over-all military establishment capable of projecting our military power overseas quickly and decisively. To this end powerful naval forces are essential."

Although he could hardly present the matter in a clearer light, Secretary Forrestal said he realized that this is a difficult time to be keeping a strong Navy intact. Russia's eagerness to obtain the atomic secret should open the eyes of Congressmen who have been asking against what enemy the nation should prepare.

Many Americans who are trying to get synthetic rubber tires continue to hold out against synthetic maple syrup.

WHAT HAPPENED TO PEACE?

Not in her size, but in the use she is making of it, lies Russia's threat to peace. Not because she now has by far the largest empire in all history, the biggest army, the greatest number of people under a single ruler, but because she so obviously covets the remainder of the earth, have the two English-speaking peoples, British and American, found themselves with their backs to the wall.

What the future holds no one can tell. History has no instance of a trigger-happy nation, having tasted the blood of conquest, voluntarily withdrawing from aggression. Perhaps the Russian bear is about to break tradition, and of her own mind refrain from grabbing what is within her grasp. Perhaps!

The UNO has not shown either the determination or the vision to stand against Russian aggression.

Where does the weakness lie? What has happened to peace?

The answer covers three points. One is the "Atlantic Charter," another the Crimean conference, and the third the Truman Administration.

The time to build firm foundations for peace was at the time of the Atlantic Conference. England and Russia were nine-tenths licked; they were willing to pay any price for America's support.

Just as with Woodrow Wilson a generation earlier, so could Roosevelt have demanded as a condition of help that both of our fellow Allies bind themselves irrevocably to a program of peace—once the war was won. Neither did so. The Atlantic Charter was a phony. There was no Charter in the true sense.

At Yalta, when the Crimean conference began, it became obvious Russia was determined to trust her own power in defiance of a common program for world peace. The unilateral peace treaty which Stalin signed with France immediately before the conference met was notice that Russia proposed to play her own game.

Churchill and Roosevelt had a bitter choice—whether to stand firm for what they knew to be right, or to give in. They buckled. They signed the death warrant of the United Nations program when they agreed to give Stalin the power to veto anything it did.

Both Roosevelt and Churchill returned to their lands in the same mood as Chamberlain returned to Munich—proud of their appeasement; blind to the reality that what they had done was guarantee future conflict. Both the American and the British people were allowed to remain largely in ignorance of the fact that Russia, largest and strongest of the Big Three, was really on her own.

When Truman became President, his first decision was to go ahead with another man's plan for peace—a plan of which he knew nothing, good or bad.

He accepted the Roosevelt-Churchill appeasements and commitments blindfolded—pigs in a poke. Nearly a year later he had to confess that he had only recently learned of one of the most important secret promises—the promise to Russia that she could have the Kuriles islands if she attacked Japan.

Truman has been offered, by the hand of fate, a last-moment chance to review and correct the United Nations program—to challenge any unsoundnesses in it. With the hair-trigger judgment which already has caused him too much troubles in other fields, he tossed aside a glorious opportunity.

Today war is on the horizon; perhaps it will not come, but no one can positively assert that it will not return. Mars is still alive. Sabres are rattling again. The dogs of war are straining at the leash.

Are we to allow American protection from World War Three to rest in the hands of the philosophies and the individuals whose ineptness gave the God of Wars a stay of execution when he might have been slain?

America's one great hope of world peace lies in giving our national administration a blood transfusion of courage and leadership.

This can be accomplished through the medium of this year's Congressional elections.

Let's try to elect at least one branch of government which will stand up to—and talk back to—Russia, not on the grounds that we are going to sulk if she disregards us, nor that we will try to starve her in the sphere of economics, nor that we are raising an army to try to defeat her—but on the simple basis that her program is morally and spiritually wrong.

years ago, the British government acquired title to this stock in order to use it as collateral for the loan. Due to dividends from American business and the advance in stock values, the British government now has an equity of half a billion dollars in these stocks.

Regardless of all other merits and demerits of the proposed British loan of $3 billion dollars, why should not the American government liquidate its American investments, realizing therefrom at least half of a billion dollars for itself and reduce the proposed British loan by that amount?

FASHION PARADE

By Max Factor, Jr.

(Famous Make-up Advisor to the Screen Stars Now Writing for INS.)
HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Now and then it becomes apparent that some beauty and glamour seeking women become so overly obsessed with minute details of their grooming that they lose track of some of the many broad basic principles which should govern all beautifying activities.

Here are some of the principles that are highly important to recognize, long before getting around to paying attention to grooming details:

Remember that perfection and effectiveness in making-up is not a matter of applying great quantities of beauty aids. Insure appearance glamour by keeping your make-up applications at the lowest possible minimum.

Seek to accentuate the beauty of your own individual features. Don't try to carbon-copy the appearance of another person in its entirety, particularly if the various features presented by this other person fail to somewhat approximate the appearance of your own.

Never forget that a superb degree of cleanliness is the base of all physical beauty.

When selecting make-up and costume colors, be guided by the color harmony indications offered by your own natural hair, complexion, and eye colorings.

If you are a brunette or a brownette, you shouldn't use the same cosmetic tints as a blonde or red-head. And, vice versa.

Your hair-do should never be regarded merely as a mass of hair haphazardly established on top of your head. Always view your hair and its styling according to how it can serve as a planned frame for your facial features and the shape of your face.

The fingernails, hands, and arms are important features of the feminine beauty scheme, and they should be accorded daily attention and care.

Many women who do not neglect the make-up grooming of their face even slightly, detract from the perfection they achieved by neglecting to keep their fingernails, hands, and arms attractive.

Always recognize the fact that beautification is largely a matter of furthering an illusion.

Consequently, don't do such things as applying or repairing your make-up, or grooming your hair, before onlooking eyes. All of these are completely disillusioning procedures, and they are capable of destroying the glamorous effect which you are trying to achieve.

After being cognizant of such sensible general principles as the ones outlined, devote all the time you wish to furthering their effectiveness with detailed care. But never make the mistake of ignoring any of the basic principles. Unless these are mastered, all the details in the world can amount to nothing in effectiveness.

DISCHARGED FROM ARMY

CRQYDON, Feb. 27 — John W. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Thomas, of Bridgewater Road, has been honorably discharged from the army at Fletcher General Hospital, Cambridge, O., where he underwent three operations for a leg wound. For 21 months Thomas served with the 3rd Armored Spearhead Division of the 1st U. S. Army in the European theatre. He has been in service for 45 months.

PERFUME POINTERS

The well-dressed woman uses a subtle scent.

By Helen Follett

It is well known among the sisters that perfume spells romance. A whiff may recall memories of a perfect summer, old-fashioned gardens, dances and parties of one's youthful days. It is just something that the well-dressed woman must have.

She usually gets it even if she has to sneak cash-on-spending-change out of the grocery allowance. It does things to her soul, sets her up, makes her feel like a millionaires.

Favorites Missing

Some old favorites may be missing from perfume counters but there are still to be found refreshing and captivating fragrances. Do make an endeavor to select the right one. You and your family will have to live with it. Old-fashioned scents are doing a comeback. There are women who stick to mimosa, lily of the valley, violet or gardenia, can't bear to make a change.

Stick to a single fragrance that will identify you wherever you go. In course of time, it will become a part of you; every detail of your wardrobe will carry a compelling floretted odor. This is a better plan than making frequent changes. It is a policy of conservation, too; you get more for your investment.

Matching Satchels

Satchels of the same scent as your perfume are a help. Place these little satin bags on coat and frock hangers. Tuck them into glove, handkerchief and hat boxes.

Keep perfume in an atomizer. Do not spray it on your clothes. Spray it upon chest and arms immediately after the bath. The warm flesh will cause the alcoholic content to evaporate; only the flower scent will remain.

We must urge the members of this beauty class to avoid heavy perfumes. They are definitely out. They just don't belong to this practical age. Light, delicate offerings are sweetly mystifying, make for daintiness of person.

MARCH 15 TAX QUIZ

(This is the third of a series of 15 brief articles, in question and answer form, explaining how to fill out your federal income tax return.)

By Francis R. Smith

Collector of Internal Revenue

Q. My Withholding Receipt has no place to list deductions. Why not? A. If you use your Withholding Receipt as a return you get an automatic allowance equal to about 10 per cent of your income. If you are entitled to a larger amount of deductions, you should file on Form 1040.

Q. On the old form of Withholding Receipt, there was a space for listing exemptions for myself and my wife, as well as our dependents. Why does the new form of Receipt have only space for listing dependents? A. To simplify the new form, provision was made so that exemptions for yourself and wife (unless she had income not shown on your return) are counted automatically.

Q. My wife and I both worked last year. Is it cheaper for us to file separate returns or a combined return on a Withholding Receipt? A. If your combined income is less than $5,000 you can file a combined return on your Withholding Receipt, and the Collector will figure your tax on either the separate or combined basis, whichever method would give you the smallest tax or largest refund.

O. I worked several different places last year and have a different Receipt from each employer. How do I use them in filing a return? A. Add up your wages from all the jobs and fill out the last receipt you received. Do not fill out the other receipts, but be sure to attach them securely to the receipt you did fill out.

Q. Are there any special points to watch in filling out a Withholding Receipt? A. Write clearly, answer every question that applies to you, and be sure to sign your name in the signature space. Also be sure your correct address is shown on the face of your return.

(Tomorrow: Facts about the short form.)

RESULTS FOR THE YEAR

The high level of business that prevailed during the war years continued during 1945, the volume being the third largest in the Company's history, and exceeded only in 1943 and 1944.

Costs of operation constantly increased due to higher costs of labor and higher costs of materials. Operating revenues of the Company declined $73,562,501, caused by the cessation of hostilities and labor disturbances in some of the larger industries. Expenses of operation increased $47,628,686, including $11,395,479 to cover the unamortized portion of the cost of emergency facilities required for the prosecution of the war. The Net Income in 1945 was $49,008,238 compared with $64,720,431 in 1944, a decrease of $15,712,193. Notwithstanding this decrease in Net Income, dividends paid in 1945 were maintained at the same rate paid in 1944, 1943 and 1942—5% ($2.50 per share).

TRANSPORTATION FOR THE FUTURE

The country's vast system of airways, highways and waterways will be expanded at the Government's expense, while all of the improvements for the railroads will be privately financed. The problems with which the railroads are faced as a result of the war should have intelligent consideration by state and national authorities wherever regulation restricts the opportunity for the rails to move forward.

The railroads want no subsidy; they want equity. They are a heavily taxed industry competing with subsidized industries, and all they ask is equality of opportunity.

As the railroads planned to meet the requirements of war, so they are planning for the opportunities of peace, and given a fair and equitable chance they will furnish the public the best in freight and passenger service.

TAXES

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company during the war years paid in taxes and disbursed for improvements and repairs, to meet the war load a sum of money equal to the entire debt upon the property. A national railroad system without any debt would place the railroads in the same position as their competitors, as the Government furnishes a large amount of the capital for the waterways, the highways and the airways.

There was much deferred maintenance during the war period. The Interstate Commerce Commission gave the railroads authority to create reserves to meet this situation. The taxation system, however, would not permit them to take any tax benefit on reserves so created, and money that should have been set aside for this purpose was taxed the same as other income. Deferred maintenance, therefore, was paid out of post-war earnings, and the more the post-war earnings are siphoned off through taxation, the less will be the money the railroads can spend on rehabilitation and improvements.

Railway taxes, after adjustment by tax credits of $24,443,381 for war years, together with Unemployment Insurance taxes of $12,741,141, and Railroad Retirement taxes of $13,802,891, aggregated $54,340,013.

LEGISLATION

To clarify the intent of Congress with respect to carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, and to resolve any regulatory conflicts with the Antitrust laws, Congressman Bulwinkle of North Carolina introduced a bill, H. R. 2536, known as the Bulwinkle Bill, which gives such carriers protection from the Antitrust laws only to the extent that their acts and procedures have obtained prior Commission approval. The Bill was endorsed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and numerous state commissions, and by public and commercial bodies and by shippers and producers generally. It was passed by the House by a large majority and now awaits action by the Senate.

To insure consistent policies with respect to legislation, and the future efficiency of the transportation system, the Bill is worthy of the earnest support of the people, who have recently seen the vital importance to the nation of the ability of the carriers to work together in the public interest.

FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES

The railroads have done the war job with practically no increase in freight rates and a relatively small increase in passenger fares—2/10 of a cent per mile in basic coach fares and 3/10 of a cent per mile in fares good in Pullman cars.

The year 1946 will be one of greatly increased cost of operation and maintenance with a decreasing business, and it is therefore imperative to consider the need for increased railroad freight rates.

The railroads were granted a 5% increase in freight rates, in May, 1942, which however was suspended until six months after the war, but, as the situation appears to be developing, it will be necessary for the railroads to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase greater than that under suspension, in order to meet greatly increased expenses and avoid deficit operation.

Large expenditures must be made for the rehabilitation of the railroads. All of these necessities will require money in large amounts. Money requires credit, and the credit of the Company is very much affected by the rates at which the business is carried.

REDUCTION OF FUNDED DEBT

Maturities during the year amounted to $11,807,880, which together with other debt retired and canceled amounting to $9,382,000, made a total reduction of $21,189,880 in 1945. This reduction was offset, in part, by the issuance of $16,290,000 Equipment Trust Obligations.

In addition, as a result of refinancing of bonds and purchases from the public, other debt of System Companies was reduced $5,380,087.

The debt of the System in the hands of the public was, therefore, reduced $10,279,967 in 1945, making a net reduction of $148,670,000 during the last six years.

REFINANCING OF BONDS

The Company continued its policy of taking advantage of the prevailing money rates to refinance certain of its bonds, as well as those of its affiliated companies, and was able to make some very advantageous refundings, from which it will ultimately realize approximately $47,000,000 of savings.

EQUIPMENT

The ending of the war made it possible to acquire materials for construction of passenger cars, and there are under construction one hundred and twelve modern passenger train cars, of lightweight construction, of which ninety are being built in Altoona Shops, and twenty-two by an outside builder. They are the finest type ever to be built for the Company, and are especially designed for safety.

Since the close of the year, orders have been placed with outside builders for the construction of two hundred and fourteen passenger train cars of which one hundred and fifty-nine are to be sleepers, for the improvement of the post-war passenger service on the railroad.

Twenty-five of the largest and most modern steam freight locomotives and tenders were placed in service during the year. Orders were placed for fifty additional steam passenger locomotives and tenders and part of the order was delivered. One Diesel electric passenger locomotive was delivered during the year, and ten more were ordered.

On December 18, 1945, the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania approved the sale by Pullman Incorporated to a Buying Group of Railroads of all the outstanding stock of its wholly owned subsidiary, The Pullman Company, which owns and services the sleeping cars.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, as one of the railroads in the Buying Group, has purchased from The Pullman Company 142 lightweight sleeping cars assigned for service on its lines, as well as 123 regularly assigned parlor cars.

RESEARCH

The Company, always seeking through research in science and technology, through discovery and invention, to be in the forefront of progressive improvement in railroad travel and shipping, has continued to move forward during the year. Through its own research staff, through the research laboratories of the Association of American Railroads, and cooperatively with equipment manufacturers, the Company is alert in utilizing to the utmost improvements in the field of electronics, metallurgy, chemistry and engineering, which can be applied to increase the efficiency, comfort and safety of rail transportation.

EMPLOYEES

As we come out of the war and enter the peace, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the efficiency and loyalty of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad and their devotion to duty.

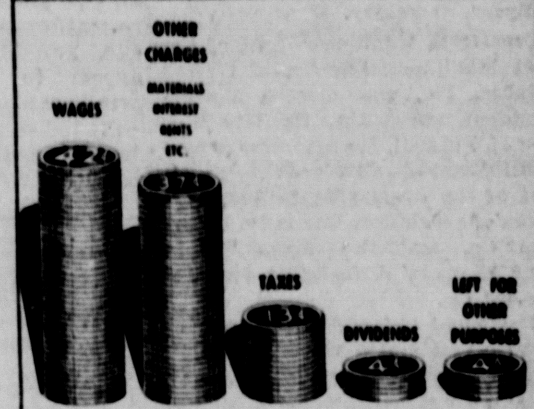

From the low ebb of the depression in 1938, with a depleted force, the Company moved into the heavy traffic of the war, met the peak load of its history, both passenger and freight, and is moving into the reconversion era. The Management wishes to acknowledge the splendid way the employees served their Country and the Company by meeting successfully every emergency they were called upon to face.

STOCKHOLDERS

The growth and expansion of the Company during the one hundred years of its existence is reflected in the number of shareholders, the shares outstanding and their distribution. When the Company was chartered there were 2,635 subscribers to the original issue of 60,257 shares of stock of the par value of $50 each, being an average holding of 22.87 shares by each subscriber.

On December 31, 1945, there were 214,995 holders of stock, and the number of shares outstanding had grown to 13,167,754. The average holding was 61.24 shares.

This chart shows how the property investment in the railroad system has steadily grown while publicly held debt has decreased. The money put back into the railroad not only has increased the stockholder's equity but has brought the total investment to a point where it is equal to more than $17,000 per employee.

A BRIEF HISTORY of the railroad's growth and development over the hundred years since its founding April 13, 1846, is included in the Annual Report sent to stockholders. Copies of it may be had by writing Office of the Secretary, Broad Street Station Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

nous industries will survive. They are vital."

Governor Martin lashed the administration, contending that the "New Deal has handicapped" free private enterprise "with governmental regulations."

Another attack on the Truman regime was made by Sen. Albert W. Hawkes (R), N. J., who charged the administration was leading the nation toward national bankruptcy through its policies of "increased expenditures and inflationary measures."

"National bankruptcy is one way to totalitarianism," he declared. "continued excess spending to gratify selfish pressure groups and in the hope of securing votes and perpetuation in office must, if persisted in, lead to national bankruptcy."

The following officers of the association were named: G. Mason Owlett, president; George W. McCandless, Henry A. Reninger and Millard D. Brown, vice presidents; James E. Shade, treasurer and W. C. Byers, secretary.

Everett L. Kent, president of the Kent Manufacturing Co. of Clifton Heights, Pa., was elected a vice-president, succeeding the late William H. Folwell. He also was named to fill Mr. Folwell's post as president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Co. and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Fire Insurance Co.

Re-elected officers of the two insurance companies were Joseph R. Grundy, chairman of the board; Mr. Owlett, executive vice president and general counsel; Frank J. LIVING MEMORIALS

Many organizations are now paying memorials to the war dead that will be a fitting monument to the ideals for which we fought. What could be more fitting to offset the total destruction of war than a Community Workshop dedicated to constructive, creative work — a real recreation center for all the family!

We all deplore what has happened to American family life — the division of interests that often makes members of the same family strangers to each other. From kindergarten through college, in church and in clubs we are segregated according to age, with special interests and loyalties that have little or no relation to the family as a whole.

It is our belief that a Community Workshop for creative arts is as necessary to the cultural growth, well-being and happiness of the family and community as are its schools and libraries — a place where veterans will have an opportunity to continue skills learned while in service, and to develop new fields of interest; where a man can try his hand at some fine cabinet work that he has always had a hankering to do, and a woman can learn to weave those lovely textiles that are so priceless to day. Jewelry and pottery-making appeal to all ages. Metal-work, printing, photography, bookbinding — the list of things to do for fun and profit is endless. And usually these activities will have a direct relation to making home a better place in which to live.

Aside from the recreational value of a Community Workshop, its economic value also are limitless. Most people would use these facilities for the pleasure of making useful and beautiful articles for themselves, but many would find that skills in the handicrafts offer a means of income as well. Many types of home industry could develop from such a project, and the community profit greatly by increasing its employment opportunities and its cash income.

We believe that no other enterprise can serve so well to cut all these lines of age, race or religious differences and to cement together the family and the community into a working whole. What hope can there possibly be for world unity until we find some unity within ourselves and in our immediate circle of endeavor?

SUBSTANTIAL MENU AT BREAKFAST PAYS VERY HIGH RETURNS

By Sara Jane Reish

(Assistant Home Economics Representative)
Almost everyone eats something for breakfast, according to recent surveys. Those persons who take nothing until noon are in the minority.

That something may be just a cup of coffee, a sweet bun, or a glass of orange juice. Even a combination of all three is not enough. A good breakfast more than pays for the time and effort spent in its preparation. The person feels better, does better work, misses that mid-morning headache and that general irritable feeling toward others.

For breakfast everyone needs a fruit, whole-grain cereal or egg, bread, and beverage. The quantity of each depends upon age and the type of work one does. The person doing hard physical labor will eat cereal, eggs, and meat of some kind while the office worker may not eat all this food.

Fruit is most generally omitted from the breakfast menu. Breakfast is a good time to get the daily supply of vitamin C by eating an orange or half a grapefruit, orange juice, or tomato juice. Occasionally one of these may be replaced with grape juice, pineapple juice, apple sauce, prunes, or apricots.

The responsibility for seeing that each member of the family starts the day with a good breakfast rests largely with the homemaker. She needs to provide the breakfast and to see that each person eats a good one.

A Message from President Truman

It is of the utmost importance that the American people understand the status and significance of our new Regular Army. It will be the duty of this volunteer Army to help protect the freedoms and maintain the peace we have won at so great a cost.

Atomic power has increased rather than decreased the necessity for our preparation, both in manpower and material. In the coming atomic age, the United States must maintain its military strength—to insure our national security and to promote world order.

Such grave responsibilities obviously cannot be met by anything less than the highest caliber of men. For this reason, I asked Congress for legislation to increase the opportunities of the soldier in the Regular Army. This legislation has been passed and signed by me, and is now in effect.

In serving his country, a man can now get good pay, education, travel and security—with family allowances for his dependents and a new 20-year retirement plan that compares with or excels anything in American industry. These, and the many other advantages of the new Regular Army, should be made known to all our service men and their families.

The Army has embarked upon a worldwide campaign to enlist enough men so that, in demobilizing, we shall not strip our services below the peacetime need. It is imperative that public support be given to this program. We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an Army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out.

I hope that every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic co-operation to this great effort to rebuild our Regular Army. The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace.

Harry S. Truman
PRESIDENT

Congress authorizes most attractive Enlistment Opportunities in our History

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (One-year enlistments permitted for men who have been in the Army six months.)
2. Enlistment age from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. The best pay scale, medical care, food, quarters and clothing in Army history.
4. An increase in the recruitment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
5. Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with furlough paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who reenlist.
6. A 30-day furlough every year at full pay.
7. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.
8. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. (Retirement income in grade of Master or First Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
9. Benefits under the GI Bill of Rights.
10. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.
11. Opportunity to learn one or more of 290 skills and trades taught in Army schools in U. S. or occupied countries.
12. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in the Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.
13. Reserve and A. U. S. commissioned officers released from active duty may be enlisted in Grade 1 (Master Sergeant) and still retain their reserve commissions.

ROHM & HAAS WINS RIGHT TO BE IN THE LEAGUE PLAYOFFS

Chemical Mixers Defeat
Kaiser Cargo Five By
Score of 54 to 33

WIN FOURTH PLACE

Kaiserites Gave Plenty of Opposition During First Half of Tilt

The Rohm and Haas basketball team entered the playoffs of the Mercer County Industrial League by whipping the Kaiser Cargo five, 54-33, last night, on the Maple Beach clubhouse floor.

According to the advises from Trenton, Panelyte had a chance to tie the Rohm and Haas by winning its game with American Steel but the former team refused to play and last night was the final night of the schedule so Rohm and Haas captured fourth place by one-half game.

For the first half of the tilt, the Kaiser Cargo boys furnished the chemical mixers with plenty of opposition and when Smith dropped in a pair of fouls, the Kaiser team took a one-point lead at the whistle, 19-18.

But Ralph Cahall and Joe Roe went on a scoring orgy in the second half and their field goals enabled the Rohm and Haas team to pull away from the Smithmen. For their night's work, Roe had 21 points while Cahall ended up with 23. Smith led the losers with 19 points.

SENIOR TRIP

Bristol high school seniors are looking forward to their trip to Washington, D. C., April 9th-12th. The itinerary is being arranged.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Ollie Mapes and The Streamlined House

The other day a construction firm set up an exhibit in the courthouse square. They built a new "house of the future"—and invited folks to see it.

Drew quite a crowd—with the women sighing over the shiny kitchen, and the men admiring the heating units and insulation.

All except Ollie Mapes. He looks around a spell and goes home. When I get there, he's sitting before his old dutch fireplace, with his feet on the screen, and a melon glass of beer in hand.

Homes Not Always Aided by Big Pay

Members were informed by Miss Bright that the county assumes the expense of the board of the juvenile delinquents in private homes or institutions. It also provides clothing and medical care.

Miss Bright cited many examples of children who had become excellent citizens due to having had the proper care and environment.

During the business session, Mrs. Large appointed a nominating committee to select candidates to serve as officers for a term of three years. The committee, which was instructed to present a report at the next meeting, consists of Mrs. Henry Eastwood, Mrs. Albert J. Thompson and Mrs. Benjamin Eastburn.

Watson and committed to the Bucks County Prison on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Attendance at the sale of household goods at "Rose Lawn Gardens," the home of William Elchlin near Quakertown on Saturday was quite large, and some unusually high prices were received.

It has been estimated 500 persons attended the sale.

Great demand was shown for the furniture, which brought high prices. A living room suite went to the high bidder for $120, and a bed room suite brought $190.

Chairs also were in demand, and they brought from $2 to $8.50 each.
